

Dressing the Tree

So now you have the tree sorted, it's time to get a'dressing! Dismiss regular finstel this year and check out these earth-friendly alternatives which can be used around the house on the walls and ceilings, or on the tree itself. Christmas

Palm Garland, £1.25 for a 12 foot piece from Green Eyed Frog is made from ecologically collected palm leaves and produced in a women's cooperative in India. Biome Lifestyle does a range of sustainable baubles for the tree in different shapes and colours, and start at £1.50 each. Another unique idea is Fair and Fabulous Recycled CD/DVD and Circuit Board Decorations, from £2.99 each. They are incredibly unusual and avoid adding more waste to our landfills.

Final Touches

Decorate the house with other gorgeous and sustainable knick-knacks like a Recycled

Wreath, £25 from Biome Lifestyle and a Fair Trade Organic Stocking, £5.95 from Green Eyed Frog.

Remember you can take the eco idea to as high a level as you want, including the latest craze of sending recycled Christmas cards available in many different stores and websites, and you can start by trying Natural

Collection for their selection of £3.50 a pack. When you receive cards it looks extra-special if you take time to display them. Fairly Traded Heart Cardholder, £8.95 also from Natural Collection is made of iron and holds 19 cards.
