

THE MUST-SEE FILM

The subject matter might not seem the stuff of blockbusters – one man's quest to switch the world to alternative energy sources – but with Julia Roberts featuring (she's a spokesperson for Earth Biofuels) alongside a host of other stars, Fields of Fuel scooped the audience award at January's Sundance Film Festival. Set for a May US release – catch it in the UK soon after. Visit fieldsoffuel.com.

THE COOL T-SHIRTS

Luella, Katharine Hamnett and Betty Jackson have all designed 100 per cent organic cotton T-shirts, from £30, sold in aid of The Environmental Justice Foundation's (EJF) campaign to eradicate child labour and pesticides in cotton production. Buy from ejffoundation.org/shop.

THE WEBSITE WITH HEART

For a fab collection of stylish, eco-friendly items for the home, visit biomylifestyle.com. It's great for gifts, like this recycled glass vase, £70, and even has a green wedding list service.

THE FUNKY JEWELS

TV presenter Alexa Chung makes her design debut for ethical jewellery brand Made. We love this brass skull necklace, £35. Buy online at made.uk.com.

